Just How Good an Eagle Are You?

ALTHOUGH IT IS only the middle of November when I write this, by the time this issue of the magazine reaches you a brand new year will be just around the corner. And so I want to address myself now to that event and what it should mean to all of us who want to be winners.

The New Year is the time for making resolutions. Some of you early birds may have made a few already. If not, it isn’t too early to mull things over in your mind and wonder whether there’s any room for improvement in your character or conduct.

It could be, of course, that you’re the Perfect Man—or Woman—but the chances are that you’re like the rest of us, and that lots of things about you could be bettered. For instance:

Just how good an Eagle are you? Has that question ever occurred to you in that form at all? Maybe you joined the Eagles at the solicitation of friends, themselves Eagles already, who told you about the many good things that would accrue to you from membership in this great fraternal order. Perhaps they dwelled on the advantages an Eagle membership could give you. But did they emphasize the things that you could do for the Fraternal Order of Eagles that would make it a better organization in every way?

The Fraternal Order of Eagles is no greater than the sum of its component parts. In other words, it’s no better than the men who constitute its membership. The organization is not something that exists apart from you, and apart from your Brother Eagles. It is You and Your Fellow Eagles. The Eagles organization has accomplished a great deal in the soon-to-be 87 years since six men sat on a Seattle lumber pile and founded the Order. It has done much in fostering local legislation and in furthering philanthropic activities. But the accomplishments are those of men just like you, banded together and working as a unit.

The Eagles Order is not an organization that can keep going on its own momentum. It needs the push of individual members. You have to get out and do the pushing!

The best resolution you can make right now towards making yourself a better Eagle is one to attend just as many meetings as possible. Don’t rely on the other fellow. Don’t console yourself with the thought that “they’ll get along without me this one time.”

When you are appointed to a committee, accept the appointment gladly and do your assigned task as well as you know how. Mix with your fellow members, take part in the social and recreational activities. Find out how much genuine fun there is to being an active Eagle.

Just try doing this. Make your resolution now. Both you and the Fraternal Order of Eagles will benefit. You will get a lot more fun and satisfaction out of life and the organization will go forward toward ever greater accomplishment.

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all of you.

A Thank You From One Of Our Operation Eagle Recepients

Nick (Gary) Nichols, one of our 2015 Operation Eagle Recipients, recently received his care package and shared a special letter with Wayne Langbecker of Meramec #3678 in Arnold, Missouri, who nominated him for this year’s program.

“Wayne,

I received the loaded packages and thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Every single piece was grabbed by a Soldier and/or Civilian Contractor in need. You guys did very well and their appreciation was expressed from ear to ear. Thank you goes out from them in a big way. Supplies are limited but we are managing with supplemental care packages sent by caring people as yourselves. Your packages brought a little bit of home in a big way with your ideas you packaged. Your caring and thoughtfulness came just in the Nick of time as our supplies are being held up in 150 container supplies lines at the borders due to conflicts and fighting.

We have ample amount of supplies but they are stuck en route so our PX is bare dry of essentials however your packages were truly Christmas for everyone. Everyone thanks you dearly. What a surprise!!

Please let the Fraternal Order know they came through in a Big Way for us over here. I made sure to pass out the applications and the booklets to everyone.

Your friend,

Nick”

The Fraternal Order of Eagles would once again like to thank Nick and his fellow soldiers for their sacrifices in the name of protecting our country.
